

I can put a sign on my house to keep solicitors away. I should be able to do the same thing with my telephone. New Jersey's law should be even more stringent and include fax machine transmission as well. If I sign up for the Do Not Call List that should be interpreted as all telemarketing regardless of any relationship that might exist with a business or the means of communication.